The Catamount

Volume VII

Foreword

Ahead lies the charted course of the good ship Catamount on her seventh annual voyage. The crew bravely weathered shoals of manless days, reefs of term papers, typhoons of examinations; they enjoyed to the utmost excellent hauls of pisces of the A or B genus, the balmy south winds of deck festivities, the sunlight—or moonlight—of friendship; and finally, with all sails set, the Catamount VII hove safely into harbor after her highly satisfactory run.

May the log of this 1945 cruise be rich with vivid memories for both passengers and crew!

Our Thanks

The Captains and the Crew acknowledge with deep appreciation the co-operation of the administration and the faculty in the successful launching of the Catamount VII.

Mrs. E. E. Church, Dr. Nancy M. Miller, Mrs. Ruth Manning, Dr. Elizabeth Atwater and Mrs. Verna Green merit special thanks for their help in group arrangements under particularly trying circumstances. We are also grateful to Mr. Walter Jaworek, who "snapped" his boys before the Army did; to Ernie who unearthed the Round Table for plotting a true course and the "fixings" for shipping de luxe cargo; and to Mr. Edgell Greyson, who procured that priceless treasure, film, for us.

The helpful suggestions of Mr. R. A. Haddock of Jahn and Ollier Engraving Company are gratefully acknowledged.

We appreciate the special effort Mr. Coyd Yost has made to give us a superior quality of photography.

To all our boosters and advertisers we extend our unreserved appreciation for their loyalty.

Finally our thanks go to a splendidly cooperative student body, without whose wholehearted support the Catamount VII could not have turned her prow into the waves of the Future nor have reached the harbor of Now.

The Captains
The Crew

Dr. Nancy M. Miller

We Honor

To Dr. Nancy Margaret Miller, head of the foreign language department of Potomac State and mentor of Sigma Phi Omega, the staff dedicates the 1945 Catamount.

Dr. Miller's superb attributes as an instructor during her eight years of loyal service to Potomac State have inspired those students who have entered the portals of her classroom and who have worked with her in numerous extra-curricular activities. The growth of the honor society, to which she has given unstintingly of labor and love, is indicative of her wholehearted zeal and altruistic interest in campus affairs.

May this Journey through Memoryland be a tribute to a benign spirit of service and to a personality whose charm has endeared the possessor to both students and faculty.

President's Message

In the future—say, five, fifteen or twenty-five years—what will you depend upon to revive memories of yesteryear at Potomac State? We hope that certain useful basic information needed in your daily lives may be traced to a classroom experience on this campus; that certain social, moral and spiritual values may have had their beginnings here or have received emphasis from never-to-be-forgotten experiences.

We are more certain that when memories' pages are turned they will present moments vividly reflected in The Catamount. Those informal occasions, those groups or clubs, those friendships of fraternity or sorority life, that girl with the red hair, "What was her name?", the King and Queen of Winter—all these and more will come trooping back to help you re-live the Potomac State of 1945. And from these re-awakened memories will come re-awakened loyalties to a college that has taken first place in your affections.

It is a privilege to voice our appreciation of The Catamount as an integral part of the college life and to express our thanks to the sponsor and hard-working staff.

E. E. Church, President.

This 1945 edition of the Catamount marks another chapter in the living history of Potomac State—a chapter containing its full share of worries and disappointments incident to the war years, when education must, in many respects, occupy a secondary position; but a year with its full share of encouragements and inspirations, and of pointing-with-pride: to a faculty consecrated and devoted to the cause of teaching and determined in their efforts to carry on under difficulties; and to a student body who are, despite their small numbers and difficult conditions, making a fine record of scholastic achievement for the year.

Congratulations and commendations to both groups!

W. D. Anthony, Acting Dean

Deans' Messages

Much of the excitement and glamor of pre-war college days is over, but the real values remain, and the Catamount stands as a most effective medium towards holding fast to and preserving those values. Now, perhaps more than ever before, must we "set our standards high and with a prayer on our lips march resolutely forward"—this the Catamount has done in its single purpose of maintaining for us a fine tradition.

Ruth Cunningham Manning, Dean of Women

Reynolds Hall

The most gracious building on the campus is Reynolds Hall with its distinctive colonial facade; the building was erected in 1925 and was named for Mr. E. B. Reynolds.

This dormitory for girls houses, this year, thirty-seven sophomore and freshman "angels." Marion Hartman is the president, and Jo Anne Schauwecker is secretary-treasurer.

Numerous social functions such as formal receptions and teas are held in the attractive reception rooms of Reynolds Hall. Informal "highlights" of the year were numerous "Dorm Parties."

Davis Hall

Mrs. Dana G. Lough
Preceptress

Davis Hall fronts on a huge quadrangle from which magnificent views may be gained of the ever-changing hills that surround the campus.

During pre-war days Davis Hall accommodated only men students, but this school term, however, marks the second year in which the right wing has been living quarters for girls. At present thirty-one young women are housed here. The left wing is occupied by sixteen boys, six of whom have gone into the Armed Forces since the opening of the fall term. Ernie Washburn serves as their president; Evelyn Critchfield is president of the girls; Lucile Crane acts as proctor.

In the same building is located the attractive raftered dining hall where students share special birthday tables, vesper teas by candlelight, and a Christmas Party with all the "fixings."

September 10, N 14° 58′ 34″ E

Launching upon unknown waters, Freshmen Gobs weigh anchor and the 1944-1945 College Cruise begins. Chow was served to parents and pelicans in Davis Mess Hall according to an old sea tradition.

September 11-12, N 16° 30′ 10″ E

The "boots" gain their sea legs through physical exams and their ratings through psych and placement tests. Several cases of homesickness reported to sick bay.

September 19, N 30° 40′ 10″ E

Monkey clothes passed inspection before the resplendent, long line of top-ranking officials at Ship's Reception in Reynolds' Day Room.

September 27, N 43° 25′ 55″ E

This day all Freshman Sea Lawyers hereby sentenced by order of the Ship's Kangaroo Court to turn to and clamp down the deck. Bear a hand there! The brig for those who went over the side. Third offenders walk the plank. Belay all week-day dates.

October 15, N 67° 59′ 25″

The last party given on deck, the last pep talk completed in captain's quarters, the momentous decision is made, and the ship's sororities claim their ballast.

October 16-18, N 69° 30′ 5″ E

Stand by for tintypes! Considerable primping and hurrying to appointments, everyone striving to look smart. Never did the masculine crew members rise and shine so handsomely. Not a gig to the group!

October 20, N 78° 10′ 35″ E

Grand get-together of female sailors in both dorms of the S. S. Potomac State. Turn-in wear is the accepted dress on upper and lower decks.

October 24-27, N 83° 15′ 42″ E

Various members of the Potomac State crew sailed down to donate blood plasma to the Red Cross; all returned under their own steam.

November 3, S 4° 38′ 50″ E

It's a joy to be shipwrecked when the W. A. A. has a party. Bet R. Crusoe never played ping-pong or shuffleboard!

November 7, S 9° 45′ 28″ E

With Skipper Shipper at the helm, the Student Book Club got under way with twenty to man the decks.

November 11, S 17° 48′ 17″ E

All topside and shiny with gold braid and brass buttons for annual Homecoming. Mr. Cal Priece of the Pocahontas Times briefed the ship's company. Myrt Fries was Queen of the Captain's Ball.

November 22-26, S 42° 18′ 9″ E

The S. S. Potomac State hit the beach! Homing devices issued all hands. Welcome shore leave to salts and landlubbers alike.

December 4-7, S 52° 16′ 11″ E

Special guests on board this week are the Theta Highlanders, clad in kilts and with bare knees exposed to a cold, cold world. Instead of demonstrating their skill in skirling the bagpipes, these worthies gave expert advice to inexperienced co-eds in the art of applying make-up "delicately."

December 8, S 55° 18′ 27″ E

Lots of excitement aboard ship with the Sigma sponsored Jingle Bell Hop on the horizon. Neptune claimed Vivian Hart and Jim Pierce as his favorite Mermaid and Merman. Gaily lighted seashells and pine-like seaweed formed the decorations.

December 14, S 68° 29′ 48″ E

Ship ahoy, mates! Step lively to officers' mess. We'll dance the hornpipe, exchange pogey bait, greet a sea-faring Santa Claus, and make merry under the Christmas star over the mast head. Knock off for the Yuletide Dorm Party! General quarters sounded this morning as the Singers herald Noel with their carols.

December 16, S 70° 20′ 20″ E

"Land off the starb'd bow! Drop anchor and all hands ashore for the Christmas leave. Step lively there!"

"Aye, aye, aye, sir!"

Miss Catamount

Myrtle Mae Fries

Homecoming Ball

Myrtle Mae Fries, a vivacious brunette, was honored as Miss Catamount VI at the Homecoming Dance, November 11. Max Smith, president of Theta Sigma Chi, presented Miss Fries with the traditional bouquet of roses. The grand march was led by Myrtle and her escort, Jack Heath.

Myrt is a popular sophomore who is justly famous for her gypsy beauty and her charming smile. She is active in all campus affairs and is the president of the Student Body and a member of the Eta Upsilon Gamma sorority.

Jingle Bell Hop

Vivian Hart, an attractive sophomore, was crowned Queen of Winter at the Jingle Bell Hop, December 8. The dance is an annual affair sponsored by the Sigma Epsilon Chi and the Phi Sigma Nu. Miss Hart's royal consort was James Pierce.

Vivian has an excellent scholastic record and is a member of Sigma Phi Omega and of Sigma Epsilon Chi sorority. Her charm and patrician blonde loveliness have made her an outstanding personality on the campus.

Eta Upsilon Gamma, the only national junior college sorority on the campus, was established at Christian College, Columbia, Missouri. The sorority's aims are to promote scholarship, to stimulate school spirit, and to enrich and broaden friendship.

In December, Mrs. Will K. Norton, the national secretary, of Shreveport, Louisiana, visited the sorority while on a tour in the East.

Thirty-two girls became Gamma pledges after attending a rush party held October 10, 1944. Hell Week and initiation were held in March.

Miss Myrtle Mae Fries was honored as Miss Catamount VI at the Homecoming Ball.

Sigma Epsilon Chi is Potomac State's oldest sorority. This local organization, originated in 1923, at one time was affiliated with a national junior college sorority, Sigma Iota Chi. Its ideals are the promotion of congeniality, sisterly devotion, responsibility, and consideration for others.

At the beginning of the present school year, Miss Madge McClung was initiated as sponsor of the sorority. In October a Hallowe'en Party was given at the Club House. A Homecoming Tea for Sigma alumni and a Gingham Hop were given in November. With the aid of the Phi Sigma Nu fraternity, this group sponsored the Jingle Bell Hop in honor of Miss Vivian Hart, who was crowned Queen of Winter; Mr. James Pierce was King. The two organizations also worked together in presenting the Valentine Party.

The "Rush Party" was held on October 11. "Hell Week" took place in March, as did the initiation of seventeen pledges at a formal banquet.

As is the custom, Theta Sigma Chi sponsored the election of Miss Catamount VI, who was named at the Homecoming Ball. Miss Myrtle Mae Fries, who received the title, was presented with a bouquet of roses by Max Smith, Theta president for the first semester.

Theta Sigma Chi Fraternity, which is a local organization, was founded on the campus of Potomac State in 1924. In 1931 a charter was issued and a Beta Chapter founded at Shepherd State College.

The ideals of the fraternity are the promotion of fellowship, high moral standards, scholarship, and social betterment. Theta Sigma Chi is highly rated, having won for many years the Dean's Scholarship Trophy, which is presented each year to the fraternity which has the highest scholastic standing. Theta members stand high among their fellows and are active in all social organizations on the campus.

The Thetas sponsored the Spring Formal and many other activities throughout the school year.

The Phi Sigma Nu Fraternity was founded at Potomac State in 1922 as the Kappa Kappa Fraternity. Later the organization became a chapter of the Phi Sigma Nu, National Junior College Fraternity. The national organization was disbanded, and Phi Sigma Nu continued at Potomac State as a local social fraternity.

This year Phi Sigma Nu with the Sigma Epsilon Chi sponsored the sixth annual Jingle Bell Hop honoring James Pierce and Vivian Hart as King and Queen of Winter. The Shamrock Shag and the Hallowe'en Party marked other high points of the school year.

Phi Sigma Nu demands and holds certain standards: scholastic achievement, high moral standards, excellent college spirit and loyalty to Potomac State, greater interests and understanding in relations between college students, and above all the establishment of a lasting bond of friendship between members of the fraternity.

Many of Phi Sigma Nu's sons are serving with the Armed Services to help maintain inviolate the American way of life.

This year Sigma Phi Omega, Potomac State's honor society, has had one of the largest and most active membership groups in the history of the organization, chiefly because the majority of those initiated last spring returned to the campus in September. Membership in this society is regarded as a great honor, and as such, is highly appreciated.

The usual activities have been carried on. On October 4, the fifth annual Know Your Organizations program was presented at a convocation, and the companion program giving well-earned recognition to campus leaders will again be on the spring activities roster. The sale of Potomac State seals and transfers has been continued to defray organization expenses and to promote school spirit.

The bond booth, opened in January, 1942, is one of Sigma Phi Omega's chief activities. Managed solely by the members, it has performed an unbroken service to our country in the sale of War Stamps and Bonds.

The year's activities will again be climaxed in May by the annual banquet, on which occasion student and faculty members join in honoring the newly initiated members.

The Pasquino

This spring will see the Potomac State Pasquino's completion of twenty-six years of service on the campus. The fortnightly newspaper is published under the supervision of the class in journalism, with the assistance of other staff members.

A member of the West Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, the school paper endeavors to adhere to the policies of that organization while giving public expression to the best interests of the school and the student body.

The Pasquino is printed at the Mineral Daily News-Tribune building where the students get first-hand experience at proofreading and general make-up work.

The Potomac State Players, originated in 1919, is the oldest cultural group on the campus.

Five one-act plays were presented by groups, competing for recognition and striving to meet requirements for membership in Delta Psi Omega, national dramatic fraternity. The plays were chosen, cast, directed and managed by the students. The Players also participated in local programs and other productions throughout the school year.

Home Economics Club

The Home Economics Club was organized in 1936. Its purpose is to provide opportunity for personal development of the members, for service to school and community, and for active participation in improving home and family living.

The course leads to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Home Economics at West Virginia University if so desired and is planned for those who wish to teach or for those who merely wish to learn the business of home-making.

Membership is based purely on interest and consists of those students participating in the courses of interior decoration, clothing and food. The clothing class redecorated the women's lounge in the Administration Building, and made Christmas stockings provided by the Red Cross for wounded soldiers. The foods group sponsored bake sales and made cookies for the Newton D. Baker Hospital at Martinsburg, West Virginia.

Catamount Staff

This is the seventh consecutive year that the Potomac State yearbook, the Catamount, has achieved successful publication. Between its covers is a verbal and pictorial record of classes, of organizations, and of the various campus activities of the year.

Only the cooperation of faculty and students and the industry of a loyal staff have made the annual possible under the numerous difficulties of war-time publication.

The governing organization of the student body of Potomac State School is the Student Council, whose major objectives are directing student activities and promoting school spirit.

During Freshman Week the Council aids in the orientation program for the new students; the selection and enforcement of freshman rules are also delegated to the Council. The "Kangaroo Court" metes out punishment to erring freshmen.

Each year in November, this group sponsors the Homecoming Dance and in March organizes and directs the Red Cross Drive on the campus.

Folio Book Club

The Folio Book Club was organized in 1939. The club's aim is to keep students informed of the latest books and to stimulate an interest in reading.

Every first and third Thursday of each month is set aside for the meeting of the club. At this time a guest speaker reviews a current best seller. These speakers include authors, faculty members, or townspeople.

Each year the group makes some worthwhile contribution. This year the club presented an album of Christmas carol records to the service men at Newton D. Baker Hospital.

Girls' Glee Club

For the past two years Potomac State Singers have been reorganized into a group known as the Girls' Glee Club, due to the decreased enrollment of young men on our campus.

The Glee Club presented their annual Christmas program for a local church and before the student body. Soloists for both occasions were Betty Menendez, Joanne Wilson and Owen Shay. The group also appeared before Keyser High School in the spring and contributed the musical program at Commencement.

This year marked the organization and initiation of the Women's Residence Association, which has as its governing body the Residence Council. This group is composed of the four officers or the House Councils from each girls' dormitory with the dean of women acting as ex-officio member. A president and a secretary were elected from the membership of the Council.

At the beginning of the school year, the Residence Council, directing the general administration of the affairs of the Women's Residence Association, drew up the constitution for the W. R. A.

The purpose of this organization is to establish and administer student government in the Women's Residence Halls on, or off, the Potomac State School campus with the honor system as its basis in which each student cooperates for the betterment of her school, for the strengthening of her character and for the development of her social competence.

The Women's Athletic Association was organized to popularize woman's athletics at Potomac State School and to foster a high standard of sportsmanship.

The aims of the organization are: to develop an intramural program broad enough to meet the interests of all college girls; to develop standards of leadership and sportsmanship; to promote those activities which may be adapted to the leisure time of after-school life — tennis, swimming, hiking, bowling, archery, skiing, skating; to encourage the adoption of health concepts that will improve habits of living; to provide opportunities for college boys and girls to enjoy sports and games together.

Among the activities sponsored to further the aims of the organization is an intramural program. This includes organized team participation in hockey, volleyball, basketball and softball, as well as activities for smaller groups such as hiking, bicycling, ping-pong, tennis, archery, shuffleboard and badminton.

The motto of the W. A. A. is "A sport for every girl, and a girl for every sport." When a member has earned a certain number of points, she receives a pin and, upon earning additional points, may obtain a school letter.

The Engineers' Club, organized in 1931, has remained active throughout the past fourteen years. Since the war its activities have been considerably curtailed. The chief purpose of the club is to acquaint engineering students with the different fields of their major. Lectures by prominent engineers, motion pictures and trips to local industries have been some of the activities for the year. Since all the sophomore members left school in January, a new set of officers was elected from the remaining freshmen.
